

writers lament

(Not to be confused with writer's block or writer's cramp)

writing is permitted
both the bright
and dim witted

but having once written what you think
to be fittin

its shocking to find there are so few
so kind

who will patiently read let alone heed

those words
with which you have been so cleverly smitten

—Dixie Wells © 2005